TOMMY BAHAMA MARLIN BARS

Allergen Information

California allergen disclosure for menu items — wheat, egg, shellfish, fish, soy, tree nuts, peanuts, sesame, and milk.

Each column is color-coded. A shaded cell names the ingredient that is the source of that allergen.

This guide reflects standard recipes prepared with standard ingredients. Shared Fryer indicates the item is cooked in fryer oil also used for other menu items and may carry cross-contact risk even if the item itself contains no listed allergen. Recipes, suppliers, and preparation methods are subject to change without notice, and item availability and preparation may vary by location. Please tell your server about any food allergy before ordering — we're happy to talk through ingredients and options.

About this information

Ingredient and allergen information is provided for the nine major allergens recognized under California and federal law: wheat, egg, shellfish, fish, soy, tree nuts, peanuts, sesame, and milk. Menus are prepared in kitchens that also handle wheat, egg, shellfish, fish, soy, tree nuts, peanuts, sesame, milk, and other allergens, so trace cross-contact is possible on any item, including those without a listed allergen. This information is not intended for guests with celiac disease. Guests with food allergies or sensitivities should speak with a manager before ordering. * Macadamia nuts in the Key Lime Pie apply to the Sawgrass location only.
